YEA Program Creates Possibilities for Kids

The ball arced toward the outfield, where Ariana was waiting. She drifted under it and snared the softball in her waiting glove. The crowd erupted in a standing ovation.

It wasn't the final out of a World Series championship game, but it was a triumph all the same—and one that ICS helped bring about.

Ariana, 15, was born with special needs. She and her twin sister, Sarina, wanted to play softball. Although Ariana is small for her age, the El Rio Fast Pitch League agreed to let her play, but there was one catch that threatened to throw the girls out: They needed to come up with $490 for uniforms and registration fees.

Their mother Christina decided to see if ICS could help. ICS had assisted the family in the past. When Cristina lost her job in January, our Emergency Financial Assistance program provided her with rent, utilities and work uniforms for her new job.

“I didn't want our economic struggles to keep the girls from playing,” said Christina. “I wanted Ariana and her sister to have the same opportunities as other kids.”

ICS was able to cover the softball league costs for the girls through our Youth Enrichment Activities (YEA) program. We were also able to assist Christina's 15 year-old son Alfredo by

BIG Bag-A-Thon Goal: 75,000 Pounds

The 7th annual “Bag-A-Thon” food drive sponsored by Edward Jones runs October 5 through November 16, and this year organizer Ken Blanchard has set an ambitious goal to collect 75,000 pounds of food for the ICS Food Bank.

Before Thanksgiving and through the holidays, lines at the ICS Food Bank stretch around the building and demand peaks. The Bag-A-Thon, our single largest food collection event, is essential to ensuring that ICS has enough supplies to fill holiday food bags and keep our shelves stocked to meet the need. This year, we expect to distribute more than 2,500 holiday food bags.

Community Collection Day: November 16

“The Bag-A-Thon is our way of giving back and lending a hand to those in need of support,” says Ken. “Our goal is to make a positive difference in the community.” Muster your group and get involved! A complete list of drop-off locations, participating groups and needed items will be posted in September at www.icstucson.org.

ICS Food Bank Honors Food Partners

Curt Balko, ICS Food Bank Coordinator (l), Eric Hitzeman, VP of Operations at Community Food Bank of So. AZ (center), and Terri Patt-Smith, ICS Associate Director (r)

In recent years, the ICS Food Bank has gone from serving 40 people a day to as many as 200. As you may imagine, it takes many sources to fill this gap.

We'd like to shine the spotlight on the businesses and organizations who generously provide us with major discounts and/or donations of pantry staples or fresh foods that help to keep the ICS Food Bank operational.

Platinum Plate Partners:

Community Food Bank of Southern Arizona—supplies our monthly food boxes
GAP Ministries—provides deep discounts to ICS on fresh produce, dairy products, meats and more

Golden Goblet Partners:

Fry's Food at Lambert & La Canada—extends ICS discounts on canned and packaged foods

Edward Jones Financial Services, Ken Blanchard Agency—provides major donations of canned and non-perishable food items through the annual Bag-A-Thon Food Drive

Silver Spoon Partners:

eegee's—provides weekly donations of breads and cookies
Einstein Bagels—provides weekly donations of bagels
Beyond Bread—provides weekly donations of breads and bakery items
Bakehouse Bread Company—provides weekly donations of assorted breads and bakery items

Cyclists' Food Drive

For the third year, the Sun City Vistoso Cyclists will host a major fall food drive for ICS as part of the Edward Jones Bag-A-Thon. The Cyclists' drive is fueled by the generous efforts of the Sun City-Oro Valley (SCOV) community, home to nearly 3,600 senior citizens. This year, the Sun City Vistoso Community Foundation is kicking in a $4,000 matching grant that will be used to purchase 5,000 chickens for ICS holiday food bags, forming the basis for 20,000 high-protein meals.

Chairpersons Dave and Marlys Nelson said, "The ICS pantry is experiencing unprecedented demand. SCOV contributions will go a long way by feeding the hungry during the holidays, and after." The 120-member Vistoso Cyclists Club actively reaches out to the less fortunate in Southern Arizona through work with many non-profit organizations. The group not only collects food and funds for ICS, through their "Wheels for Kids" program, they also provide new and refurbished bicycles to empower youngsters and adults.

Volunteering Lifts Lives... in More Ways Than One!

Jerry Lofton knows how to fix things. During a long career refurbishing homes and repairing appliances, he gained a reputation for excellent work, honesty and punctuality. But then Ellen, his wife of nearly 50 years, died. And he knew he needed fixing himself. "I was depressed and lonesome," he says. "I couldn't see any reason to be here, knocking around a house that was just four walls."

Jerry in action

A counselor at his wife's hospice made a suggestion. "He said, 'You know, you might enjoy volunteering at ICS.'"

Since then, Jerry has been a mainstay of ICS Caregiving Services, helping seniors and disabled persons stay safe and independent. "Clients thank me for being accessible," he says, "and I say, 'Hey you're doing as much for me as I do for you.' Thank you for the privilege of helping you."

He makes himself available anytime to provide transportation for shopping, medical appointments, and other errands, as well as home repairs and companion sitting when needed. Jerry has been an ICS volunteer for 3½ years. He learned how to repair things by growing up on a West Texas farm. After their little daughter died, circumstances forced the Loftons to move around, ending up in Arizona where he worked as a handyman. Today, those ups and downs help him relate to others and "fixing things" has expanded meaning.

Jerry encourages others to consider volunteering. "Being an ICS volunteer doesn't just change another person's life. It changes your own," Jerry says.

If you are looking for rewarding volunteer opportunities, ICS offers many ways to get involved and make an impact. See the ICS website for volunteer openings or contact Sandi Brickley, Volunteer Resources Manager, at sbrickley@icstucson.org.

helping to help pay his expenses to participate in the Junior/Cadet National Wrestling Tournament in Fargo, ND.

Funded through grants from private sources such as the Christina-Taylor Green and PICOR foundations, as well as private donations, the Youth Enrichment Activities program enables children from households in financial crisis to pursue positive athletic, cultural and social activities that support their physical and emotional well-being and growth. Many of our financial assistance clients live paycheck to paycheck and don't have resources to cover their basic needs, let alone extracurricular activities for their children. Without the YEA program, the children of these families would miss out on activities that can improve their outlook, provide a sense of stability and routine, and promote their academic success.

Jose's story is another example of how this program helps children have new and meaningful experiences. Jose had to give up playing the violin when his family fell into crisis because they could no longer afford to rent his instrument. When the family turned to ICS for help with their housing, our case manager heard about Jose's passion for music. ICS was able to cover six months of violin rental, while the family works to get back on their feet. Jose is now the first chair violin in his middle school's orchestra and was recently invited to play in an all-district orchestra performance.

To date, more than 100 children have been served through the YEA program developing their skills and interests in everything from gymnastics to guitar lessons. Parents tell us it helps their children to be around positive role models, meet new friends and build confidence in activities they find rewarding.

Ariana knows she just loves playing softball. "I like it when I help my team win," she says.

Terri Patt-Smith, ICS associate director, sums up the value of Cristina's and other children's assistance this way: "It's a joy to see a family reach stability, and to see a struggling mom or dad provide a special opportunity for his or her kids through this enrichment program."

Seeing children grow and succeed qualifies as a home run in our book!

Growing Responsibly

The mission of Interfaith Community Services is to help seniors, disabled individuals and people in financial crisis achieve stable and independent lives.

As we live within our mission statement there are competing forces at work. On one hand, we want to help the growing number of people who need our services (double-digit increases in the last 4 to 5 years). On the other hand, we want to be very careful to preserve our unique culture at ICS and our ability to deliver quality services with care and compassion.

Some of our longtime supporters have questioned, "How much more can ICS grow?"

The ICS Board and management continually wrestle with this question. As we vet new opportunities, the following guiding principles lead every decision: Does the program fit our mission, culture and interfaith heritage? Is there a passion within the organization for the new effort? Is there a gap in our community for this particular service? Is the new effort "volunteer-centric" in order to leverage staff resources? Are there new partners with which to collaborate for this service? Are program evaluation and measures in place? Are volunteers, funds, and staff resources available and sustainable?

A comment on the question of mission and culture fit...one of the things that we all love about ICS is that no matter how we grow, those connected most closely to us feel the empathy of our volunteers and staff. "ICS is unique in getting a real person at the end of the line." "Most of the Board members are program volunteers who have direct contact with those we serve." These are just a few of the comments that I regularly hear.

As ICS looks toward the future, rest assured that the subject of growth is a primary focus of our strategic planning and one that we are weighing carefully. We encourage your input on how we are doing in keeping the ICS tradition alive and in maintaining the personal and compassionate spirit of our volunteers and staff that has defined ICS for almost three decades. I invite you to contact me to share your thoughts at 520-297-2738 x212 or bkampa@icstucson.org.

Thank you for being a part of ICS and the work that we do.

Hospital Expanding to Offer Specialized, Complete Care

ICS is pleased to feature our Corporate Platinum Partner, Northwest Medical Center.

This fall, Northwest Medical Center will unveil a new addition to its grounds – an Inpatient Rehabilitation unit. Designed for comfort, privacy and healing, Inpatient Rehabilitation at Northwest features 13 all-private rooms for those patients who need ongoing therapy for health conditions such as strokes, arthritis, femur fractures, neurological conditions and amputations. The new facility will be located on east wing of the third floor of the main hospital. Construction will continue until mid- to late-August with the goal of admitting patients by September 10.

The Inpatient Rehabilitation unit will cater to patients needing intensive therapy to regain movement or function. Offering physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy, the goal of our inpatient therapy team is to help patients regain their independence and ultimately return to doing the everyday activities they love to do.

The unit will be under the direction of a Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation physician who will oversee patient care.

This will be the second inpatient rehab facility within the Northwest Healthcare system. Oro Valley Hospital has an 18-bed inpatient rehab facility with a reputation for providing high quality patient care. The new NMC facility will give patients another geographic option so they can complete their rehabilitation within the Northwest Healthcare system at a location that is convenient for them.

“Northwest Medical Center is dedicated to expanding services to support the best possible patient outcomes,” said NMC Chief Executive Officer Kevin Stockton. “The new facility will benefit patients who require comprehensive, inpatient rehabilitation services. Once this new unit opens, these patients will have the option of staying at NMC to continue their recovery.”

Groups Give Back

Many hands make our work possible at ICS. Our heartfelt gratitude to these organizations for their recent efforts:

Volunteers from Alcoa Fastening Systems braved the heat to help Rose, a 93-year-old ICS recipient. The group spent 6 hours in the sun cleaning up her 1-acre yard and hauled away 100 bags of clippings and weeds! Alcoa supported the group with a donation of $1,500 to ICS.

The Women’s Golf Association, Oro Valley Country Club designated ICS as the beneficiary of their April club fundraiser, raising an amazing $2,858 for our programs.

Dillard’s, Tucson Mall, provided ICS with hundreds of gently used handbags to distribute to ladies at our Job Resource Centers and Food Bank during their spring trade-in event. The bags brought smiles to our clients and will help women looking for work appear professional for interviews. A big thanks to Dillard’s and their customers!

The Southern Arizona Women’s Chorus and Con Brio choirs united for an evening concert to benefit ICS. The event raised $805 and 80 pounds of food for the ICS Food Bank.

VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) volunteers completed 249 tax returns for low- to moderate-income recipients.

Thanks to the following for holding recent food drives for the ICS Food Bank:

Nathan Brown as part of his bar mitzvah; Capilla del Sol Christian Church and North West Heights Seventh Day Adventist Church; Church of the Painted Hills; Mountain Vista Fire District; Nanini Branch Public Library; New Life Bible Fellowship; Quails Golf Group; Resurrection Lutheran Church; Ronald McDonald House Charities; Valley of the Moon; Texas Instruments; Wilson Middle School, the Women’s Golf Association at Omni Tucson National.
